The Jane Reichhold Memorial Haiga Competition

Failed Haiku is happy to announce the creation of a senryu haiga competition in honor of Jane Reichhold. Jane's passing touched many of us; her love of all the haiku arts was legendary. We especially wanted her love of haiga and senryu to be remembered and celebrated by artists and poets of both forms.

Kelly Moyer and Michael Rehling will be this year's judges. Their decisions will be final.

Here are the rules of the competition:

1. Two First Place winners will be chosen from the following categories:
 - a. Traditional Haiga, as in ink, ink wash, watercolor, oils, or tempera.
 - b. Photographic and Mixed Media can be any combination of traditional and photographic or computer-generated images and text.
 - c. All should contain a 'senryu' as the poem.
2. Winners in each category will be published in the November 5 issues of BOTH Prune Juice and Failed Haiku, along with a short write-up by the judges.
3. The entries can be by a single artist providing both senryu and image OR any form of collaboration between artists. Please include complete attribution to both images and poems with your entry.
4. Only TWO entries per artist and collaborations will count toward both artist's totals.
5. All entries can be sent in either JPG or PNG formats and should be high quality.
6. In the email containing your entry please tell us 'briefly' about how the image was created.
7. Entries should be original work that has not appeared in any edited journal, but work displayed on social media or personal websites is acceptable.
8. All entries will be sent by email to: editor@failedhaiku.com ONLY.
9. Entries will ONLY be received from October 10 to October 20 at Midnight Eastern Time. Any entries received earlier or later will NOT be judged.
10. The judges will render their final decisions by October 25th, and the winners will be notified shortly after that.

Jane Reichhold was a poet/artist who worked in every form of haiga. A short memorial for her is posted at Under the Basho, with a link to her long work. Jane inspired many, and we hope she will continue to inspire. Some of her haiga can be found at her site: AHA Poetry.
